

Collecting and analyzing data from your farm for customized farming

When we test on your farm, we run multiple trials, each with a specific end goal. Some trials screen new hybrids, while other screen advanced hybrids under different conditions: populations, seed treatments, and foliar applications, among others.

We are through the fields multiple times collecting different pieces of information, which we tie together at harvest.